Experience:-

IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

Registrar in ENT

Ipswich Hospital NHS Trust
November 1995 to April 1997

This is a District general Hospital in East Anglia. Where I was working with three consultants, along with two Senior House Officers and a Staff Grade Surgeon. I was exposed to Endo Nasal Surgery, Ontological Procedures and routine ENT procedures. I took very active part in local and Sub - Regional Audit meetings. I did study on Adenoidal Hypertrophy and on Glue ears.

❖ Locum Registrar in ENT

James Paget Hospital, Great Yarmouth, East Anglia
October 1995 - One month

❖ Locum Registrar in ENT

District General Hospital, Sunderland
September 1995 - One month

❖ Senior House Officer in ENT

District General Hospital, Sunderland
February 1995 - August 1995

This is a regional sub-centre for ENT and Head and Neck Surgery. I trained under five Consultants with special interest in Otology, Endoscopic Sinus Surgery and Head and Neck Surgery. During my stay here I saw new and follow - up patients, performed pre-operative assessments and post operative care, performed surgical procedures independently and under supervision and was responsible for the emergency admissions twice a week. I participated in teaching Audit sessions and inter-departmental meetings, which helped me to get my fellowship of the Royal College of Edinburgh.

❖ Senior House Officer in ENT

Royal Infirmary, Blackburn.
February 1994- January 1995

In my first job in the United Kingdom, I was first on call for the emergency services twice a week and did an operating list independently once a week. I passed my DLORCS examination during this period.

IN INDIA

❖ Civil Assistant Surgeon in ENT

Government District Hospital, Erode, Tamil Nadu
January 1991 - January 1994

This post in a busy 600 bedded District General Hospital with 15 ENT beds, provided me with considerable experience in dealing with most ENT emergencies. I conducted operating sessions and outpatient clinics, independently, twice a week during this period.

❖ Senior House Officer In General Surgery

Government General Hospital, Madras
January 1990 - December 1990

I worked in the General surgical unit with special interest in Head and Neck Surgery of this University teaching hospital for one year. I second on call for the surgical emergencies during this period and assisted major surgical procedures of the thyroid and parotid.

❖ Civil Assistant Surgeon in ENT

Medical college Hospital, Chengalpet, Tamil Nadu
July 1988 - December 1989

During this period in the faculty of ENT in a University hospital in the capacity of an Assistant Professor, I participated actively in the undergraduate teaching programme. I was responsible for the daily out-patient clinics of the hospital and performed three surgical sessions every week.

❖ Post Graduate Resident Trainee in ENT

Government General Hospital, Madras
April 1986 - May 1988

During my period of postgraduate training in ENT in this university hospital, I submitted a dissertation on Angiofibroma and was awarded a Master's degree in ENT by the University of Madras. I was second on call for the ENT services of the Institute of Otolaryngology of the University and was trained in many of the major surgical techniques in ENT Surgery.

❖ Resident Medical Officer

Rural Medical Centre, Aliyar, Tamil Nadu
April 1983 - March 1986

I was in charge of this rural medical centre for three years as part of the primary health care service of the state of Tamil Nadu. This job provided me with considerable experience in managing a wide variety of general medical and surgical problems of a large rural population of the South Indian State of Tamil Nadu.

❖ Research Experience

During my period of post graduate training in Otolaryngology, I studied the prevalence of Nasopharyngeal Angiofibroma in a tertiary referral centre in south India and submitted a dissertation to the University of Madras, in partial fulfilment for the award of Masters Degree in Ear, Nose and Throat Surgery.

I audited the pattern of post-operative wound infection in a general surgical ward in the University Hospital of Madras while I was working as a Senior House Officer in the General Surgical specialities. The conclusions were presented at the monthly general surgical forum of the hospital.

I participated in a study evaluating the sensitivity of Microscopic Diathermic dissection of the tonsils to detect post-Tonsillectomy bleeding, with a view to minimising hospital stay.

Comparative study of Adenoidal Hypertrophy. X-ray postnasal space vs. 70 degree rigid Nasendoscope. At Ipswich Hospital, studied the use of Ear drops in post Mastoidectomy patients and presented at the South Zone Conference India.

❖ Academic And Teaching Experience

During my tenure as the Senior ENT Resident in Madras Medical College Hospital, I was regularly involved in the conduct of lectures and clinical demonstration sessions for undergraduate and junior ENT residents of the Medical College. As a faculty member of the Chengelpet Medical college for eighteen months and eighteen months as registrar at Ipswich UK, I used to train undergraduate medical students in the basic concepts of Otolaryngology.

Currently part time teaching faculty at Perundurai medical college Perundurai for the past five years.
